PG&E Bundled Service vs. RCEA Service

PG&E is still responsible for delivery charges and credits.

RCEA is now responsible for generation charges and credits - with a premium credit for net surplus generation.

PG&E is responsible for all energy charges and credits on your bill.
RCEA’s Net Energy Metering Program
Enrollment in the CCE NEM program is automatic with the PG&E interconnection agreement.
Monthly Billing

RCEA bills monthly for the generation portion. If you use more energy than you produce you will have smaller bills monthly, rather than one large bill at the end of the year for generation.

If you produce more solar electricity than you use your credits roll over month to month and you will not have any generation charges.
Excess Generation Credits

RCEA pays the retail generation rate for excess solar production plus an extra $0.01/kWh.
For excess generation, RCEA pays out at your retail rate plus $0.01/kWh, $0.11/kWh on average.

Compare this to PG&E’s Net Surplus Compensation program, which pays the wholesale rate, $0.03/kWh on average.

RCEA pays out customers with a credit of $100 or more in May every year.
This Year’s Payout

This year RCEA offered generation credit payouts to 492 customers in Humboldt County that amounted to ~$176,000.
Yearly Billing Cycles
Yearly E-1 residential customer bill

California Climate Credit is applied.

Winter rates begin

Summer rates begin
Yearly Net Energy Metering Billing Cycle
RCEA

total annual cost = $211

NEM customers with RCEA pay slightly less overall and receive smaller monthly bills instead of one larger annual bill.

Excess credits roll over month to month and offset bill costs even when you consume more power than you create.

In months when you are a net producer, you receive a bill credit for surplus power at the retail rate.

Charges (or Credits) for Electric Delivery

All new NEM accounts are on Time-of-Use rates, which means that the energy that you generate or use is worth more during peak use times. However, some customers are grandfathered in to tiered rates, which are exclusively based on how much energy is produced or used and not on when.

Non-Bypassable Charge
Most charges are included in the electricity rate; Non-Bypassable Charges (NBC) are separated in a different line item so that they cannot be reduced by solar generation. The Net Usage Adjustment ensures that customers are not double charged for NBCs. If you produce more electricity than you use it will be a positive charge; if you use more than you produce it will be negative.

Monthly NEM Charges
$-7.54

1. The State Mandated Non-Bypassable Charge (NBC) cannot be reduced by any net generation credits. If applicable, additional credits are included in the NBC.

Net Generator Bonus

If you generate more electricity than you use each month, RCEA will credit you at your retail energy rate plus an additional $0.01/kWh bonus. Those surplus credits will be rolled over to the next month for you to use later in the year or to cash out at RCEA’s annual generation true-up in May.
